

ELECTRICAL CONTRACTORS ASSOCIATION OF SASKATCHEWAN INC.

Construction House, 1939 Elphinstone Street, Regina Saskatchewan, S4T 3N3

April 2004

President's Message

By Glen Gerow

The Construction Industry in Saskatchewan continues to grow at a steady pace with the last year seeing many new and proposed projects scheduled for tender in 2004. The Association aims to keep pace with the growth of the industry and to keep abreast of the conditions which affect the way electrical contractors conduct business in this province.

One of our initiatives in 2004 is to increase membership in the Association. The Electrical Contractors Association of Saskatchewan provides many services for its members such as representation on government and industry boards. The Association also assists members in handling problems with inspection authorities. The Association has and will continue to represent electrical contractors at all levels of government. Our first priority is to be the electrical industry's information centre. All legislative changes are of utmost importance to the Association's members and our initiative is to communicate those changes to our members.

The Association represents the electrical industry on several working committees such as the Sask Power Liaison Committee, the Electrical Apprenticeship Trade Advisory Board, the Saskatchewan Apprenticeship and Trade Certification Commission, the Saskatchewan Construction Association and the Saskatchewan Construction Safety Association. We recognize that our continued involvement is very important to the ongoing success of our industry.

Also in 2003, we partnered with the Saskatchewan Indian Institute of Technology in a Student Recruitment Program. This Program is designed to assist integration of aboriginals into our industry. The Association is also involved with the Industry Education Council in hosting a Career Expo to promote the electrical industry to high school students. These types of programs are essential to ensure continued interest and growth of our industry in the province of Saskatchewan.

We look forward to your continued support in the Electrical Contractors Association of Saskatchewan so that we may continue to monitor the conditions under which you conduct your business as an electrical contractor.

We are the employers' voice for the electrical industry.

WELCOME

To our New Executive Director, Michael Fougere
